

The animals at Nuthatcher Farm were tired of their food.

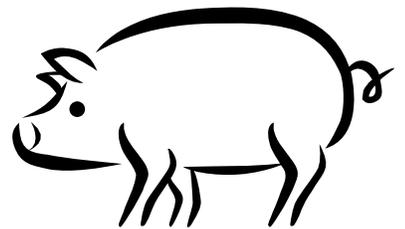

The Chickens crept into the garden and took tomatoes and onions. They ate chips and salsa. The rooster said "Ole!"

The ducks sipped into the garden and got cilantro and garlic. They ate guacamole and said, "Ole!"

The pigs plodded into the garden and picked bean and chiles. They ate nachos and said, "Ole!"

The animals wanted to have a fiesta but all their food was gone. The farmer and his wife took it to make tamales. The chickens, ducks and pigs ate their old food.

The rooster found a new cook book and made crepes, a French food. Then he said, " Ooh, la la!"

